A PROFITABLE OPERATION .- A fund was raised in the township of Plymouth, Michigan, for the purpose of paying the $300 commutation for those who were drafted from that subdistrict. There was but ooe man required from there, as only nine were wanted to fill quota of Wayne county. This number being so small, the enlistment committee gave notice at the drawing that they would furnish the sum required to exempt those who were drawn, by that means securing the exemption of all. Cahoon, the person drafted from Plymouth, procured the three hundrad dollars from the club there, with which he procured his exemption. He then went to the onlistment committee and procured his three hundred dollars there, according to promise, the committee not being aware that he had already received his exemption. He came out of the draft with $300 in his pocket and exempt for three years. It may have been sharp practice, but the people of Plymouth will never forget

We have watched with much interest the ceurse of the administration of affairs in our eister State, and we are frank to say that we cere not what party Gov. Bramlette may claim to belong to, we most heartily endorse his administration as eminently proper, wise, and partotic. We care nothing for political names in these troublons times, but we do care much for true patrictic principles, and therefore we eartily commend the public course of Gov.

In another column we give such extracts frem the Governor's late message, and com-ments upen the same, as must strike home to the hearts of all patriots, whether they were in fact, we commend the entire message of the Governer, to all radicals and revolutionists, and bid them, in God's name, cease their wickedness, and once more throw up their hats and appland the Governor of Kentucky. "The truly loyal man is struggling to maintain a government—not to make one." This is the patriotic language of the patriotic Governor of Kentncky—the language of patriotic growther which men are denounced as copperheads, and sent fettered to a dungeon. If there is a spark of patrioticism left in radical hearts, let them take np this patriotic key-note, and the glorious Union will still live.

Would the reader believe that there breathed a man so warped—so drunk with abolition folly and wicked fanaticism, as not to cordially endorse the following sentiments of the Governor's message: "We confess a stronger affection for the white man than the black, and believe this government was made for the white man that the black and the stronger affection for the white man that the position and found it man; that he ought to maintain and defend it.
And we further believe that the large amounts expended to feed and support 'contrabands' would be more judiciously and charitably ex-pended in supporting the suffering or phans and widows left by our brave and gallant volun-teers, who have fallen in camp and field." Yet there are thousands who are ready to denounco just and noble a sentiment as this, 'earp-z,' and 'latent treason.' Would soldiers, or the families of soldiers, regard the authors of such sentiments as these inimical to them and treasonable, while they would regard these patent humanitarians who leave the sufferings t their own doors of poor white people, and have been taken from comfortable homes, plenty and content, and huddled together upon the banks of the Mississippi river where the mistheir friends and the true patriots. Governor Seymour, responding to an invitation to attend a public meeting in the city of New York on the eve of the recent charter election there, says:

At a meeing held in your city scarce a month since, I spoke at length upon the great questions which now agitate our country. The intervening election resulted unfavorably to that political organization which I believe is asserting principles and urging a policy best calculated to restore our Union, to preserve our constitutional rights, and bring back peace to our land. While I regret this result I am still coulident that the justice and particularly in the country of the co triotism of our position will soon be recognized by all classes. Strong prejudices and gassions always prevail in periods of civil war. Unjust suspicions and dangerous assaults will be regretted by our political opponents in calmer moments. In the meantime, it is our duty to adhere firmly to those tried principles and to those time-honored organiations which governed our country so success-that In this emergency the policy should be that pursued by President Jacksou under similar circumstances. While, on the one hand, there should be every exertion of national power to compel obedience to constitutional obligations, on the other there should be superadded every inducement consistent with he honor of the government to lead the re-bellione States to lay down their arms and return to their appropriate positions in the Union. In the meantime, no good can be gained, no interest of freedom, or of constitutional rights, or of personal liberty will be pro-moted, by making differences of opinion upon questions of public policy occasion for strife, persecutions, or public disorder. While it is onr dnty to repel all invasion npon our constitutional rights, let us, by a prompt obedience to our constitutional obligations, show that we are not animated by a factious purpose to embarrass the administration; but that we are controlled by a fivent desire, not only to save our Union and preserve our Constitution. save our Union and preserve our Constitution, but, beyond all, to lefend those rights of person and homes, of property, of conscience, which the Constitution and the Union were designed to secure. The rebellion is a cure for no evil-it protects no rights—it destroys all, including our nationality, if successful. Then the true nationality, if successful. constitutional basis.

Kentucky, in the first place, favored mediation in order to prevent war and bloodshed. Forced by the invasion of three Southern arnies unwillingly to take up arms, she determined that nothing but a restoration of the supremacy of the laws should satisfy her; yet equally abhorrent to her is the abolition theory that all State lines are abrogated and Statea themselves reduced to territorial dependence. Therefore, she is in favor of the whole power of the government to be energetically used to crush those in arms; yet she is Ically used to crush those in arms; yet she is in favor, not of an armistice, because that would give a breathing spell to those engaged in hostile combination for renewed preparation and renewed exertion at its discontinuance, but for an amnesty to all those who lay down their arms and return to their constitutional obedience, except the leaders of the rebellion, who should be a properly a factor of the rebellion. runished at all hazards. finished externally during the next two years, but it seems by the report of Dr. Walter that the east front ol the main building must be extended so as to correspond with the wing projections. This, with other suggested changes of the main structure and tha enlargement of the grounde, will carry the date of completion into the neighborhood of 1875. Little was it supposed at the period of the laying of the corner-stone of the extension. that twenty years would elapse before the structure and its contemplated anrroundings might be said to be finished. THE AMERICAL

This is a grand era for courage in the United States; probably no period in the world's history was ever so full of incidents of gallantry in the hour of peril, and we are gla! to chronicle evidence like this that not only sailors, but that others whose services are allimportant to the Government have so uniformly proved themselves noffinching heroes.

msn, just returned from a tour down the Mississippi, makes a revelation of some of the abuses and corruption of the cotton trade in that section under the present arrangement.

I have just returned from an extended trip down the Mississippi river, in connection with the Sanitary Commission. While performing the labors more immediately devolving upon me, I could not close my eyes and ears to what was going on around me. You are right in easing that the Government should at once but a stop to the present system connected with the cotton trade." There are grave abuses and very serious charges connected with it and it is producing a desire to speculate and peculate that is perfectly frightful. The officers of the army, I think, are fully awake to the abuse which evite and will do what they can be used. abuses which exist, and will do what they can to put a stop to them. The abuses mainly arise from permits or orders to trade, ema-nating from the Treasury Department or its agents. Men in high places are openly charged agents. Men in high places are openly charged with being directly connected with those to whom special permits are granted, participating in profits, &c. Distinguished names from Rhode Island, New York, Ohio, and Illinois, were freely spoken of in this connection.

As to their truth or falsity, I do not pretend to decide. All I know is, that some change in the system is necessary, and has been from the first. The custom is, as I have been cred-ibly informed, for men of capital and professed loyalty, or I might say anduubted loyalty, to procure permits to trade. These persons send agents of doubtful loyalty, and these again sub-agents more unecropulous, and who are loyal only to their interests. These men are paid $10 per bale on all the cotton they can purchase at 15c per pound. They proceed to different points along the river, and establish direct communication with gnerilla chiefs and hands who for a consideration will affect the above diseases in the above diseases in finitely-nine cases out of a hundred. and bands, who, for a consideration, will afford protection to the cotton which they purchase. Supplies are furnished, and many articles contrahand of war, I doubt not, are smnggled in; and that the enemy in this way are directly furnished with what they stand most in need of. These speculators, if loyal at home, must need assume the garb of traitors and rebels when Ihey go beyond our lines, and, to show their sympathy, communicate all the information they are in possession of, and abuse and curse the Yankees to the peret satisfaction of their new friends.

Cromwell has already been announced. The | Bo you want to feel well? times says:

The names of the parties arrested and the Dn you want energy? specific charges against them had been with-held by the Government authorities until Monday, when it was aunounced that among them were Hon. H. Segur, formerly Minister to the United States from the Government of San Salvador, and his wife and maid servant. Also, Mr. G. F. Cauty, a merchaut of this city, and Mr. D. Perez, of San Salvador. Mr. Seour and Mr. Perez were arrested on board the George Cromwell, where they had embarked for New Orleans. Mr. Cauty was not going for New Orleans. Mr. Cauty was not going out in the steamer, but was discovered to be intimate with the suspected parties, and was arrested as he was about bidding them adieu. On the person of Mrs. Segur was found a bill of ladiog for fifty kegs of lard, which had been shipped on board the British barque Circassian. On Friday the kegs of lard were seized, and in them were found one thousand navy revolvers. In the personal baggage of Mr. Segnr and Mr. Perez were also found rebosom of Mrs. Segur and of her maid-servant were also found revolvers, and even the child-ren belonging to the family had the same articles conceased about their clothing. The parties were all taken to Fort Lafayette on Sunday. Several other parties, including the firm in Cortlandt street at whose house the barrels containing powder were packed, which were seized on the George Cromwell, have also been arrested, but their names are withheld

Hydrophobia—A Horrible Case.—A very horrible case of this disease lately occurred in the town of Adams. Mr. James H. Kenyon, a man forty-twu years of age, was bitten by a mad dog last June in the town of Redfield, Oswego county. At the time he thought very little about it, not knowing that the dog was mad uotil several days after. Time passed on, and Mr. Kenyon said but little about it to any one until about five or six days before his

He first noticed an itching sensation on the thumb which had been bitten by the dog; whenever he rubbed the sensitive portion cold chills would instantly pass over his whole body. This was on Sunday. On Monday he felt cold chills again. He then mistrusted that he was having the hydrophohia, yet he took a sweat, and on Tnesday went out and worked some. On Wednesday he was taken with vemiting, which continued nearly all day. Thursday he was cross and snappish to those about him, and that night Mr. Jeremiah Parker was called. At this time Keynon was having slight fits once in three or four minutes. He lalks rationally, and said that he was unable to control himself, and did not know what he might he led to do; and Iherefore he wished to be tied to the bed. This was done, as he had requested.

In his convulsions he tore the feather and straw beds into pieces, and threw himself from one side of the bed to the other, seemingly as quick as lightuing, moving, at the same time, the bedstead twelve or eighteen inches each way; this while he was lashed to the bed. He could not endure to have a drop of water even in the room, and if any was offered him he immediately went into convol-sions. He now was in the greatest agony, and plead with the doctor io bleed him is death. He died about seven o'clock on Friday morning, six months from the time he was first hitten.— Watertown (N. Y.) Journal. A HORRIBLE EXECUTION IN POLAND.-Letters from Woclawski give the particulars of the execution of Francis Corfini, late of the Polish cavalry. Although with an Italian name, this soldier was a Pole, a native of Posen, and had formerly served in the Prussian army. He was captured in the village of Klubce, where the Russians committed the usual atrocities, plundering the estate, murdering two of the inhabitants, beating the the church. Corfini was taken to Wloclawski and tortured at his examination before the infamous Shwartz, Aid-de-Camp to Prince Wittgenstein. The prisoner kepl silence not-withstanding his sufferings, but at leogth, provoked beyond endurance, he spat in Schwartz's face and exclaimed: "The time Schwartz's face and exclaimed: "The time will soon come when you, too, will suffer for all your crimes." Schwartz, in a fury, immediately ordered Corfini to be beaten with rods, and the punishment was prolonged until the vietim lost all coosciousness, his back being quite broken. He was then taken to the gibbet and bound to it for several hours. This was repeated for four days in succession, after which he was harged. Corfini preserved, the which he was hanged. Corfini preserved his self-possession to the last, saying that he was

Although not disposed to favor or recommend, Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of me sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indubted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long-continued scholity. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relied, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not keit for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for diecting me to the use of them.

Pulladeliphia, June 23, 1861.

Particular Notice.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bilters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whiskey or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gellow, the date disquired by Anive or Corinuler Seed.

This class of Bilters has caused and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkerd. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept no, and the result is all the horrors oftendant upon a drunkerd silf and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bilters, we publish the following receipt: Get One Bottle Hinofland's Gernian Bilters and mix with Three Quintra m Good Hrandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will lar excel is medicinal virtues and true excellence ony of the momenous Liquor Bilters in the market, and will east much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

Attention, Soldiers!

AND FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine-tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations haddent to camplife. In the lists, published aimse daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the slek, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case et that kind can be readily enred by Heofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, it these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will he foot. We call particular attention to the following re-rarkablnaud well authenticated cure of one of the nation's beroes, whose life, to use his own language "has been saved by the Bitters,"
